SAXBYS COFFEE SHOP OPENING

in Library North 1 on January 24, 2008.

Sweet Silence (Ruhe/Silencio)!

Need a quiet place to study?
Feeling claustrophobic in the quiet study room?

The University Library is happy to announce that the 5th floor of Library North is now designated as a quiet floor! When you arrive there, quietly check out the international signage on the north wall...can you identify
all the languages?

AMERICAN PERIODICAL SERIES ONLINE

The University Library is pleased to announce the recent purchase of the American Periodical Series Online database. The database includes digitized images of American periodicals published between 1741 and 1900, and highlights over 1,000 magazines covering colonial times to the events that shaped the United States' role in World War II.

From America's first scientific journal to its early popular magazines, APS online is extremely comprehensive, and offers original typography, layouts and graphics that add a richness to personal or scholarly research. Georgia State University students and faculty can access the American Periodical Series Online database on or off-campus through the University Library web site: www.library.gsu.edu.
